

BRAD-CHEM Ltd

Quality Policy

The Company will place Quality and Safety first in everything it does.

The Company will understand the needs and requirements of all its interested parties, including customers and provide them with products and relevant information precisely as agreed in the most efficient and cost effective manner.

The Company will set business objectives to develop opportunities in technology-based markets and will set quality objectives to support business strategy.

To achieve this the Company is committed to the implementation and maintenance of an on-going continuous Quality Improvement Process, which will be as fully supported by management, employees, equipment and training as is considered necessary.

The same commitment will be required from all suppliers.

The Quality Standard used within the Company will be BS EN ISO 9001: 2015.

The use of the systems and procedures defined within the Company's Business Manual, operational procedures and referenced documents is therefore mandatory for all employees.
